Satellite TV Reception (Home Digital Systems Book 8)

Synopsis

This series of publications introduces the reader to the application of digital systems in the home. It is suitable for those with no prior knowledge of the subject, whilst at the same time providing a source of reference for experienced installers who wish to know more about the subject. This part (part 8) covers domestic satellite TV reception, with particular reference to Astra at 28.2oE and Hotbird at 13oE and the installation techniques are described. The various types of dish and LNB are considered and signal measurement techniques are discussed. The new Sky Q system is also mentioned. Parts one to twelve cover radio, TV and satellite reception and distribution; parts thirteen to sixteen cover data systems and part seventeen is a reference of abbreviations and a glossary of terms.
