Inflammation is not an attack to our body, it is a way body protects itself. It is a result of chemical reactions caused by body hormones. If we feel inflammation, we should know that something is wrong with our body and that it is trying to correct it itself. The way we can help our body to do so is by eating proper food, in order to speed up the process. Book offers seven day inflammatory meal plan, advice how to switch to inflammatory diet, grocery list..Breakfast recipes offer pineapple breakfast smoothie, avocado and egg toast, asparagus breakfast quiche, pumpkin pie spiced oatmeal, breakfast hash..There are recipes for main dishes, salads, side dishes, appetizers, midday snacks.. Not only does it give you delicious recipes, but it offers several alternatives in case you have food allergies.

My left eye swells whenever I take ibuprofen, caffeine, or eat something like nuts, eggplant, radish, etc. It started when the medicine that I take for 10 years already for my migraine. I started being conscious on what I eat but still there are some that makes my left eye swell. I am glad I came across this book. After reading this book, most of the foods not to eat are the ones that makes my left eye swell. I will definitely try the recipes and

The best and reliable way to fight inflammation is to do it naturally. One way you can do that is by making some changes in your lifestyle. Diet is one of the factors why an individual suffers from inflammation. The book points out some of the leading cause of inflammation such as sugar, MSG, Alcohol, fat, and others. The book also offers a list of foods that can help you prevent inflammation. It also has a list of recipes you can follow for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. This book is definitely worth the read to enrich your knowledge on how to combat inflammation through your diet.

This book interests me because my husband has Colitis, and I would love to find a diet that not only avoids trigger foods, but that can help his digestive system heal. It has been a long hard road with him, and I am willing to try anything that could help him. I think these foods and recipes will help me as well. I read the basics, and tonight I will pick through the recipes and see what I want to start with, which action plan to try first. I am looking forward to seeing what differences we will see with these.
